Scientific Meeting

“Challenges in Effusion Cytology”

To be presented by:

Paul Shield – Department Head of Cytology
Sullivan & Nicolaides Pathology, Queensland

Paul Shield is well known in Australia for his expertise in Cytology. He has published many articles over the years on varied topics in cytology including some on effusions; morphology and the value of Immunocytochemistry in effusion diagnosis. Paul has given excellent presentations at many National ASC Meetings. He will be presenting for us a number of case studies highlighting the challenges in effusion cytology and troubleshooting techniques to aid in diagnosis.

Venue: Hobart Pathology, Seminar Room

Date: Tuesday, 6 December 2011

Time: 5:30pm for 6:00pm start
Refreshments provided

Please remember the ASC is a ‘not for profit’ organisation that relies on members subscriptions to fund meetings. If you are not a financial member of the ASC we would be very grateful for a gold coin donation on the night to assist with meeting costs. Thank you for your support. Membership applications will be available on the night for any who are interested.
